

A reliable email service, with privacy as a plus.

Email platforms can be demanding wild beasts, and building, running, and maintaining one can be costly if you don't have the right skills and domain expertise at hand. At Soverin, we can help you tame that beast. We were driven on a quest to create an email platform that not only functions flawlessly but, more importantly, respects user privacy. We believe that email should be more than just a functional tool; it should be a trusted fort that safeguards the private nuances of communication. Soverin provides an email service where users can communicate without a hitch, with the added benefit that they don't have to fear unwanted intrusion at a price that won't break the bank.

Benefits of partnering with Soverin

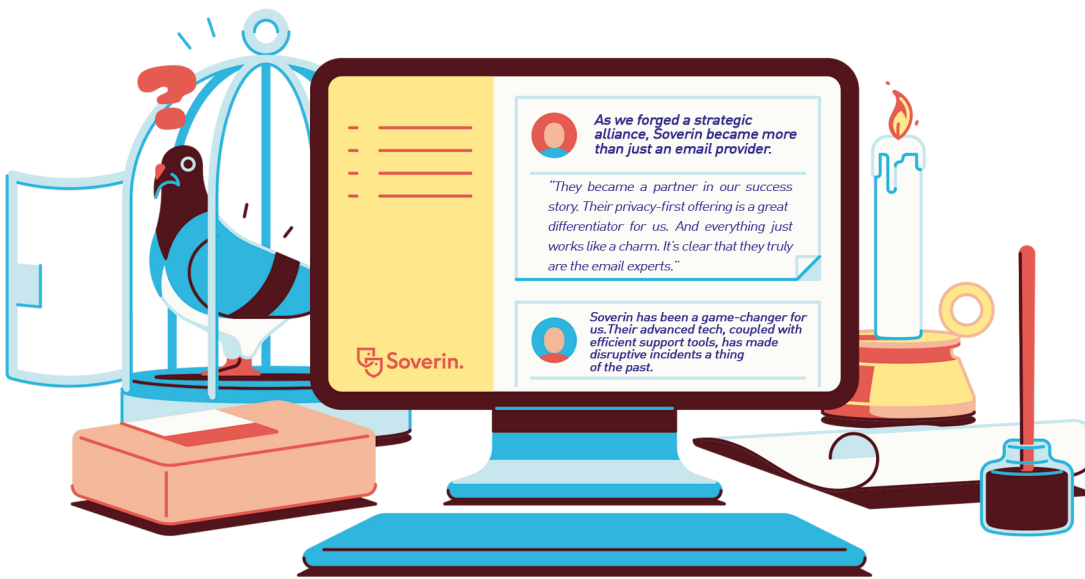

Reduced cost of ownership

Future-proof email service

Seamless migration

Smart tooling for efficient support

Revenue-generating alliances

Don't let the fear of migration hold you back.

Embarking on the journey of migrating from one platform to another is a tale of success with Soverin. We know the consequences of poorly managed migrations—the financial and operational toll they exact, casting shadows of churn, deliverability woes, and the need for an army of support resources. We've witnessed how fearing the risks and stalling migrations can be counterproductive. As the clock ticks, once-reliable structures age, becoming more vulnerable and less user-friendly. That's why, at Soverin, we make sure to avoid that. Our email wizards have vast experience in executing migrations where every step is guided by the wisdom of best practices, ensuring minimal impact on both users and operations.

The quest to a healthier bottom line.

Our solution is designed to go beyond another email service. That's why we have created a comprehensive, cost-effective email ecosystem that will allow you to experience substantial savings compared to your current solution. We've meticulously analysed the total cost of ownership, and the results are significant. By transitioning to Soverin, you'll benefit from reduced infrastructure expenses, streamlined management, and efficient support—all contributing to a healthier bottom line.

Future-proof your email service using a visionary solution.

As stewards of email excellence, we not only keep pace with industry trends, standards, and technological and user demands but also go beyond crafting a dynamic email solution that is ever-advancing. Picture us as your noble knights in shining armour, holding the standard of email to the highest standards. Let us handle all the necessary email protocols and standards like GDPR, DMARC, DKIM, SPF, DANE, TLSA, TLS, BIMI, and SRS while you focus on your business. Partnering with us means entrusting us as your email experts who adapt to your and your customers' needs seamlessly, ensuring harmony between scalability, functionality, agility, and speed—all while upholding the values of privacy that define the essence of Soverin.

Cutting-edge tech, built to avoid disruptive incidents.

We have blended cutting-edge technology with an unwavering commitment to exceptional customer support, ensuring a seamless journey for all. Armed with smart tooling and useful insights, our top-notch email platform ensures that your support desk is not merely able to handle and resolve tickets swiftly but can proactively prevent them from piling up in the first place. Remarkably, we can proudly share that we receive one support ticket per week per 100,000 mailboxes—a testament to the mastery of our support incidents. We want to keep users happy. That's why, at Soverin, we created a support system that serves as a proactive ally in weaving unparalleled customer satisfaction.

A strategic alliance that delivers.

At Soverin, we embrace our strategic alliances, ensuring we build relationships for success to flourish mutually. Recognising that email is not just a massive communication tool but a potent revenue generator, we present a high-margin revenue driver that promises continual growth. Our commitment extends beyond merely offering an email platform. We take charge of the entire journey: onboarding, hosting, and maintaining accounts while seamlessly working on upselling to greater space, expanding mailboxes, and developing and unveiling novel features. Forging strategic partnerships is not just a choice; it is our essence.

Pricing

We offer very competitive rates, as we believe democratising privacy is the ultimate goal.

Referral based (10.000 mailboxes)
kick back fee

Whitelabel (10.000 mailboxes) fee per mailbox and total storage and a monthly platform fee.

Migrations are planned and quoted separately.

About Soverin

Passionate about changing the status quo when it comes to digital privacy, Soverin is an independent, privacy-first email provider based in Amsterdam, the Netherlands. For a decade, our mission has been to ensure secure communication by giving users control over the privacy of their mailboxes. Run by a team of email experts, including tech gurus, network pros, domain authorities, protocol specialists, internet pioneers, entrepreneurs, and business leaders, we have created a secure, scalable, and steady email platform that is safe, functional, and easy to use.

Let's Connect.

Every hero needs a loyal sidekick. As you embark on your journey to generate revenue while providing the best customer experience, we can be yours. Partner up with us to offer your customers a secure, scalable, steady, privacy-first email solution that won't break the bank.